'NAZI PROMISES ARE WORTHLESS'

Warns That Cessation Of Present Conflict Will Bring Invasion Of Americas

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—In a special report to Congress on his momentous meeting at sea with Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt today renounced any immediate hope of world peace, warned that cessation of the conflict would only lead to a Hitler invasion of the Americas, and declared that to oppose the now historic "eight points" is to "compromise with Nazism."

Short Message

His message, delivered at the request of congressional leaders, was less than 600 words long, but it was as scathing in its denunciation of Germany as it was laudatory of the eight-point peace program which the heads of the American and British governments announced after their dramatic parley on the Atlantic.

The principles embraced by the program, he informed Congress, are the only "worthwhile" ones on which a world peace could be founded, and then Mr. Roosevelt went on to add what may become a "ninth point"—freedom of religion.

"It is . . . the President said, "unnecessary for me to point out that the declaration of principles includes of necessity the world need for freedom of religion and freedom of information. No society of the world organized under the announced principles could survive without these freedoms which are a part of the whole freedom for which we strive."

Old Timers' Reunion Draws Crowd To Park

From the state of Maine to the sandy stretches of the Pacific, former residents of New Castle and Lawrence county, descendants of those hardy pioneers who hewed a civilization out of the primeval forests which once covered this section, gathered at Cascade park (Big Run Falls) Wednesday to recall the days of their childhood, dance the old round and square dances, and enjoy themselves in an atmosphere of the past.

From New Hampshire

They came from as far away as the state of New Hampshire, and Florida on the east, to California on the west, just particularly to attend Old Timers Day, and for those who had not seen their friends of bygone years, the hours slipped away all too swiftly.

This was the 35th annual reunion of the Old Timers association, and while the crowd may not have been any larger than in former years, it seemed as if there were more of the real old timers present.

President Fred B. Sankey opened the program at 1:45 o'clock by recalling the fact that this was the 35th annual gathering, and expressed his pleasure at the splendid attendance. He also thanked the committees which had worked hard for the success of the affair, and The News for its generous publicity.

He recalled the fact that most of those present could in a measure (Continued On Page Eight)

Pulling Contests Are Fair Feature

Powerful Draft Horses Compete In Load Pulling Contest That Interests

Exciting harness races—along with a good share of rib-ticking children's pony races—held the attention of the crowds which took over the New Castle fair grounds this afternoon.

All day long today, or from the seven o'clock opening this morning until noon, hundreds kept filing past the gates of the Harlansburg road show grounds for the "last act" of the annual fair program.

Through Tonight

The curtain falls on the three-day fair tonight "around midnight." It opened at noon on Tuesday.

Roars of a record grandstand audience of over 1,000 echoed over the grounds last night as the first of the horse-pulling contests were staged. Fair officials described the crowd "as the best we've seen in a long time," and prepared for a repetition of it tonight.

Tonight's horse-pulling event, reserved for the heavier draft horses, will get under way about 7:30. Fireworks will follow, as they did last night.

Except for a pre-contest runaway by one of the entered teams, the competition, in which mighty teams of horses strain to pull the heaviest loads, the Wednesday night show went off without incident.

Eckels Wins

The four last horses "in the money" were eliminated at the 8,000-pound drag mark. Top prize of $40 was won by the team entered by J. H. Eckels, Marion, Pa.; while those of Fred Kuhms, Bethlehem, Pa., placed second ($30), Donald McKinnis, Lisbon, O. ($20), third, and James Holt, Butler R. F. D. 1, fourth ($10).

Yesterday's afternoon throng upped gate figures considerably, and reports at press time today indicated another attendance of like size was congregating. The parking grounds were filled with cars.

Judging of the various departments still was in progress. Announcement of the early judging results came from the fair ground office late yesterday.

Boy Hurt

The runaway before the contest slightly injured 15-year-old Fred Jenkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Jenkins of 922 Ryan avenue, a helper at the fair grounds, who was watching the contest preliminaries. The emergency rescue squad of the New Castle fire department rendered quick first aid treatment.

The frightened horses crashed through the heavy fence and knocked young Jenkins to the (Continued On Page Eight)

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENTS

(International News Service)
Paris, once the world's gayest city, and Leningrad, always known as the world's gloomiest, took the news spotlight today as a result of two swift German movements.

In the former capital of France, German-controlled authorities, according to word received in Vichy, staged a mass round-up of "dissidents." In a five-hour raid in the entire working class area surrounding the site of the ancient Bastille, authorities were said to have arrested 6,000 "non-Aryans."

All-Out Defense

In the former capital of czarist Russia, the second largest city of the Soviets, thousands of soldiers and just plain Russian workers, prepared for an all-out siege by the Germans. The situation at Leningrad looks "desperate," according to a British correspondent in Moscow whose dispatch was passed by Soviet censors. In a report broadcast by BBC and picked up by CBS in New York, this British correspondent said German troops are flooding toward the city from several points.

Germany continued to present the world with new success claims. Nazi blitz troops, Berlin officials said today, have prevented the Russians from destroying any more than a few minor connecting locks of the gigantic Dnieperistock dam. Had the Russians completely (Continued On Page Nineteen)

Striking C. I. O. Workers At Kearney, N. J., Ask President For Modified Closed Shop

(International News Service)

KEARNEY, N. J., Aug. 21.—The 16,000 striking CIO workers of the Kearney plant of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company today dispatched a union resolution to President Roosevelt, urging him to uphold the "sanctity" of the national defense mediation board recommendation that they be granted a modified closed shop.

Calling upon the chief executive to take over the operation of the giant shipyard, which has been closed for two weeks, the industrial union of marine and shipbuilding workers asked "that the President himself be beaten into submission by big business in destroying the validity of the government's decision."

Speed "Lifeline" To British Africa

Trans-Ocean Ferry Service To Be Started Soon—Use Brazilian Airports

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The United States government today rushed plans for establishment of the American aerial lifeline to the British forces in West Africa and the Near East.

Although the trans-ocean ferry service, designed to speed warplanes to the British in Africa and the Near East, will be operated by Pan-American Airways, the State, War and Navy Departments actually are drafting plans for establishment of the service.

Brazilian approval for American civilian pilots to use the airfields at Para and Natal as stepping stones for flying the warplanes to Africa is considered in official quarters to be one of the most important diplomatic achievements of American Ambassador Jefferson Caffery in Rio De Janeiro.

Non-Aryan "Dissidents" Rounded Up By Germans

Arrest 6,000 Jews In Wholesale Roundup In Paris Working Class Area

VICHY, Aug. 21.—In a five-hour roundup of the entire working-class area surrounding the site of the ancient bastille, German-controlled authorities in Paris today arrested 6,000 non-Aryan "dissidents," according to word received in Vichy.

The sweeping raids encompassed the whole 11th arrondissement in the eastern section of the former capital, bounded on one side by the historic place De La Republique and on the other by Pere Lachaise cemetery—the "potter's field" of Paris.

News of the arrests, published officially by the Paris press, followed widespread reports of unrest among Jewish, anti-Nazi elements in various parts of France.

Traffic Halted

While the raids were under way, subway traffic was halted and all streets closed to motor and bicycle traffic and pedestrians. Guards were posted to the place De La Republique station of the Metro—the Paris subway.

The 6,000 Jews taken into custody were rushed by bus to internment camps. (Continued On Page Two)

Italian Forces Occupy Croatian Coastal Points

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—Authorized German quarters, disclosing that Italian forces had occupied Dubrovnik and other Croatian coastal points at dawn, said today that the Fascist garrisons were being stationed along the shore by a mutual agreement between Rome and the government of the newly established state of Croatia.

Editor's Note: This dispatch from Berlin was the first official announcement of the Italian occupation. Rome has not yet announced it.

Nevertheless, official quarters said negotiations are under way between Rome and Zagreb for readjustments.

Official German circles indicated the whole affair is considered a "matter between Rome and Zagreb and not Berlin."

Croatia was awarded to Italy after the subjugation of Yugoslavia. The country is ruled as a monarchy under the Duke of Spoltso a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel of Italy.

City Transportation Paralyzed, Citizens Delayed, Industry Impeded

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Aug. 21.—New conferences were scheduled for today in an effort to terminate the A. F. of L. strike against the Detroit department of street railways which crippled transportation facilities in the nation's fourth largest city and impeded work on defense projects.

Throughout last night and well into the early hours of this morning, Mayor Edward J. Jeffries conferred first with A. F. of L. leaders and then with leaders from a C. I. O. union whose long-standing jurisdictional dispute with an A. F. of L. union led the latter to order a strike early yesterday.

Adjourn at 3:25 A. M.

The latest conference adjourned about 3:25 a. m. and those who participated generally admitted that there was no basis for hope of an early settlement. A new conference was slated to begin at 11 a. m.

Meanwhile, Jeffries was fearful that a general "labor holiday" might develop from the transportation strike. Although there were no direct steps in this direction, Frank X. Martel, president of the Wayne County Federation of Labor, admitted that the powerful Detroit Building Trades Council and other A. F. of L. affiliates had pledged full support of the walkout.

Interested observers at the Wednesday night meeting were Thomas J. Donahue, chairman of the state labor mediation board, and John Q. Jennings, federal conciliator representing the U. S. department of labor.

Donahue said he envisioned one obscure avenue which might lead to peace, but added:

"I can't place much faith in the possibility of a break yet, because in (Continued On Page Two)

Undoubtedly, one and sincerely believing that the "V" stands for Victory—in these trying times—the hope of the entire Nation!

Only Two Parties On Election Ballot

No Independent Tickets Filed

Deadline For Independent Groups Passed At 5 P. M. Wednesday

PHILLY REJECTS COMMUNIST PAPERS

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—Pennsylvania's voters will have only Republican and Democratic candidates to remember when they go to the polls this year, state election officials said today.

The deadline for independent groups to file party slates passed yesterday at 5 p. m. E. S. T., and neither the Prohibition, Socialist nor Communist organizations were permitted to file in the fall election.

The three parties failed to poll sufficient votes in the last election to win a place on the ballot and were therefore required to file in independent slates for state and county judicial posts.

Election officials refused to hazard whether the anti-subversive legislation enacted by the 1941 General Assembly had discouraged Communist candidates from filing nominating papers. Although the law was debated as an anti-Communist measure it did not contain any direct references to the Communist party.

Communists Turned Down

The law provides for a committee composed of the governor, the secretary of the commonwealth and the attorney general to reject nominating papers of any party whose purposes or aims "is the establishment, control, conduct, seizure or overthrow of the government of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania or the United States of America by the use of force, violence, military measures or threats of one or more of the foregoing."

In Philadelphia, the county elections board rejected the nominating petitions of Communist candidates for city controller and treasurer and there were indications that a court test of the new legislation might result. Communist officials asserting their party was not committed to forcible overthrow of the government.

ment depots at Drancy, near Paris, to undergo questioning. The Paris authorities were understood determined to find out whether recent anti-German disorders were merely spontaneous disturbances or part of an engineered conspiracy.

Only a short while before the raids took place, German authorities in Paris issued a decree providing the death penalty for participants in anti-Nazi activities. The prisoners were reported to include women as well as men.

The prisoners were rounded up in a house to house search during which identity papers were closely scrutinized. The raids stemmed directly from a disturbance several days ago at the Gare St. Lazare during which a number of shots were fired and several demonstrators wounded. At the time, the German radio announced that all the offenders were Jews.

The 11th Arrondissement, known as Popincourt, is one of the most crowded areas of Paris. Bisected by the Boulevard Voltaire, the district was the scene of bloody fighting in the French Revolution and its ancient stone monuments still bear the scars of battle from the time of the barricades.

Anti Nazi Disturbances

In his last public address pledging continued collaboration with Germany, chief of state Marshall Henri Philippe Petain admitted unsatisfactory conditions of morale in the unoccupied zone of France, but naturally did not mention the Paris area. He lashed out at dissident elements who failed to obey the edicts of the government or recognize the hard realities of the situation, and inferentially accused former French parliamentarians of spreading discontent.

Editor's Note: British and Free French sources recently have reported growing anti-Nazi disturbances in France and other occupied countries. During the height of the "V for Victory" campaign, thousands of Parisians were reported arrested for writing or chalking the letter on walls and houses.

Meanwhile, applications from the 16,000 idle workers for state unemployment benefits continued to flow into the offices of the state employment service. First hearings on the applications will be held at Newark tomorrow.

Liquor Prices Will Be Higher After September

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—The retail price structure of the State Liquor Control Board will be revised September 22 to meet price changes since February. Thomas D. Frye, secretary, said today.

The new list is expected to be effective until the federal government places a proposed defense tax on liquor, he explained. The new order will make price increases, change some sizes of bottles and provide for new items and substitutions. The changes will be based upon sealed bids submitted Friday by vendors fixing the base cost of products to the board.

The board computes the consumer price by adding the federal tax to the base price, marking up that amount for a profit of more than 40 per cent, and then levies a 10 per cent relief tax on the total.

POTTERY WORKERS UNITE IN DRIVE FOR CONSERVATION organization thoroughly conscious of the conservation of materials and supplies and the more efficient use of equipment and the folly of wasting human energy.

The plant employees' conservation falls right in line with the material-saving drive of the National Defense Program and, of course, that of the chief conservators.

Materials used now in pottery processes may be released for other defense purposes, and then out of the conservation President McAfee and his men may find substitutes for the raw materials so vitally needed in other defense jobs.

Charts Tell Story

Conspicuous charts about the plant constantly remind everyone of the importance of reducing daily spoilage, and that's just one of the many phases of the conservation drive.

Plant men quickly responded to the conservation call and put Howard "Peck" Houston, one of their fellow workers, at the helm of the drive.

Houston yesterday said "all the men deserve the credit for the showing so far," and he indicated that one of these days the company will hold "open house" for the Universal families so that their wives and sons and daughters see what's being done here for national defense.

Lapel buttons bearing President McAfee's photo will be worn by the workmen as a personal tribute to him.

Letters Heralded Drive

Before the program was launched August 13, letters were mailed to all the employees' homes explaining the objects of the campaign. Thus the wives and other family members promptly learned of it.

The message according to Clyde M. Whittaker, vice president and treasurer, stressed that the conservation is of "vital importance to everyone of us in order to insure continued operations of this factory."

Down at Camden, N. J., where another Universal division—Camden Pottery—is located, another loyal group of employees is duplicating the conservation effort for "President Keith."

SOVIETS DYNAMITE HUGE POWER DAM

finally it rendered useless for a long time to come the river's hydro-electric potential and the industrial facilities which depended on the dam for power.

A Daily Telegraph dispatch from Stockholm said that the great dam was blown up under orders from Marshal Semyon Budenny, Soviet commander of the south, following a telephonic conference with Stalin in Moscow.

The Russians, said the Telegraph, "thus have made sure that not a particle of the Ukraine's industries will fall into Nazi hands in working or workable order."

"The whole upper Dnieper as far as Kiev now has been turned into a torrent, swirling flood." Above the dam the stream was said to be beyond navigation until the flood has subsided.

It will take many days before the impounded waters above the dam have flowed out and spread over the new "Budenny line" in the lower reaches of the Dnieper, it was estimated.

One Of Largest

For the dam raised the level of the stream some 200 feet, thereby holding back countless millions of tons of muddy water.

Berlin dispatches this week said that German capture of the dam, even if it is partially destroyed, would be regarded as one of the greatest prizes of the war. The Germans have not yet claimed capture of Dniepropetrovsk, although the spearhead of their advance east from Krivoy Rog was in that direction.

The Dnieper dam was completed in 1932 under the direction of the late Col. Hugh L. Cooper, an American engineer. It was run by American-made machinery, and its early operation was supervised by E. E. Robinson of Kewanee, Ill.

It was the biggest power development in the world until the Boulder, Grand Coulee and Shasta dams in the United States were built.

MEDIATION EFFORT GIVES LITTLE HOPE OF DETROIT PEACE

a dispute like this it is often impossible to work out what might at first appear to be a solution.

Jeffries, after the conference, declared "we might as well have been in Africa shooting big game."

Jurisdictional Fight

The A. F. of L. union voting the strike originally was division 26 of the Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Operators of America which has held exclusive DSR bargaining rights for 40 years.

The A. F. of L. union has been fearful the city would decide to grant concessions to the CIO which has, during the past few months, gained many new members among street car and bus operators.

Although disgruntled at first, Detroit's population which depends on the street cars and buses for transportation to work daily began to take the situation in stride and with good humor. Many automobile plants holding defense contracts reported yesterday that thousands of workers appeared late, thus impeding production. The Hudson company closed down three plants but were expected to reopen today.

"Traffic on Detroit streets was unusually heavy, despite the absence of buses and street cars. Private automobiles usually kept in garages during the week were brought into service and those persons who had no automobiles were carried to work by neighbors with cars or by taxi. Many so-called "jitneys" were in operation, the drivers of which charging a nominal fee to transport persons to their work.

The tieup has affected 5,500 DSR workers. The municipally owned line transports about 400,000 persons to their jobs each day with an aggregate of 1,200,000 passengers being carried daily.

Hatch covers are the most frequent source of accidents on American merchant vessels, the Department of Commerce finds.

and Odessa. Klugebep is 75 miles southwest of Leningrad; Novgorod is 100 miles southeast of the former capital, and Staraya Russa is on a branch of the Leningrad-Moscow railway with Lake Ilmen separating it from Novgorod.

The noon communique added: "Stubborn fighting went on all night in the directions of Novgorod, Gornel and Odessa."

(London heard that the Russians have dynamited and "utterly destroyed" the immense Dnieper river dam near Dniepropetrovsk in the Ukraine. This measure was intended to loose a gigantic flood of water into the lower reaches of the river, and at the same time keep the Germans from using the dam as a bridge to cross the Dnieper.

(The British Broadcasting Corporation quoted Swedish newspaper reports from Berlin as saying that German forces have entered the outer defenses of isolated Odessa.)

Counter Attack

Latest Soviet information asserted that the Russians still are counter-attacking successfully on the central front, with the aid of airborne tanks and infantry.

Attacking the Germans in both front and rear, the Russians captured five villages, according to Tass, the official Russian news agency, and at the end of a four-day push, the Germans "still are being pursued."

A government bulletin added that 30 German planes were shot down Aug. 18, and 27 more were blasted out of the skies on the 19th. Eight German planes admitted were lost Tuesday.

German bombers repeatedly attempted to raid Leningrad during the night, an official statement added, but they were "invariably dispersed with losses." In the final attempt, the Russians said, Nazi dive-bombers were used, but they fled after four were shot down.

The appeal of Marshal Voroshilov was the first Soviet admission that Leningrad, the second largest city of the union, is in grave danger, although Voroshilov refused to admit that it might fall to the Nazis.

"Will Never Be"

In one of the most dramatic messages since Josef Stalin at the beginning of the war called on the Soviets for a "scorched earth" campaign, Voroshilov told the people of the Leningrad district:

"The enemy is attempting to penetrate to Leningrad. He wants to destroy the city and kill its population."

"This will never be! The enemy will never foot in the city... The Soviet fleet and air force are inflicting heavy blows, but the enemy has not yet been broken. We must not be caught unawares. The red army gallantly is defending the approaches to the city. We will form new detachments of the national militia to help the red army."

Voroshilov urged the Leningrad citizens to "flock to the workshops and make more and more guns and munitions for the defense of the city," and called upon them to "destroy the dastardly enemy," adding: "Let nothing stop you—neither bombing nor other difficulties. Prepare for yet more abominable measures by the Hitlerite bandits. 'Comrades of Leningrad! There is no limit to your organization, bravery and power. 'We can and will stop the bloody horde which is threatening the Soviet Union. Leningrad will not be the enemy's!'

low establishment of the service will be the permanent concentration of a fleet of American-made bomber and fighter planes at Bathurst and other nearby British-controlled points in West Africa.

Manned by British Empire pilots, this aerial fleet is believed likely to be kept at West African bases for the purpose of preventing the French West African base of Dakar from falling into German hands.

At the first sign of any Nazi attempt to use Dakar as a naval or air base, the American-made planes are likely to go into action against that port.

Diplomatic quarters in Washington are convinced President Roosevelt had Dakar in mind when he said "the importance of this direct line of communication between our country and strategic outposts in Africa cannot be overestimated."

There are indications that American army air observers may be stationed at the bases used by the new service to watch how it functions.

A possibility also is seen that American Army Air Corps men may be released from active duty to pilot the warplanes to Africa if Pan-American Airways finds itself pressed for civilian pilots.

WHAT IT TRAVELS ON

AN ARMY, it has been said and said again, travels on its stomach. A glance at dietetic statistics for the Third Army, which is in the throes of maneuvers in Louisiana, gives reason to believe that this particular Army ought to travel far and comfortably.

Rations for the 250,000 officers and men of the Third Army during the six weeks of mock warfare include the following items:

Thirteen million eggs, an average of two and one-half eggs per man per day; 7,000,000 pounds of fresh and canned beef, or an average of a pound a day for each man; 1,500,000 pounds of bacon; 11,000,000 pounds of bread; 9,500,000 pounds of potatoes; 2,500,000 pounds of sugar.

Among other eatables which the Third Army is expected to consume in six weeks are 14,278,975 oranges, and salads which will require 187,165 quarts of mayonnaise; 36,714 bunches of green onions, 239,530 bunches of celery, nearly 700,000 pounds of fresh tomatoes, 286,000 heads of lettuce and 34,888 quarts of vinegar.

These statistics were given out with the superfluous comment that the American soldier is the best-fed fighting man in the world. The Third Army in Louisiana seems ready to prove that contention.

OIL AND WAR

The world-wide oil situation can be summarized about as follows: Japan appears to have very considerable reserves garnered diligently from the United States and the East Indies. Russia obtains oil from her own Caspian and Black Sea sources.

Hitler is getting his oil requirements from Rumania and from synthetic operations within Germany. Italy is dependent on Rumania and on the scant Albanian field.

Britain is calling on America chiefly for its needs, particularly Venezuela and the United States, although most of its airplane fuel comes from the East Netherlands. The supply of oil from Iraq is consumed mainly in Mediterranean operations.

Mexico, which has much oil, is not contributing to Britain's needs. In March, 1938, Mexico expropriated the properties of several large American and British oil companies. Britain terminated diplomatic relations with Mexico and that situation has continued until the present time.

Marshal Petain has given almost everything to the Germans except the tomb of Napoleon.

UNVEILING FALL MILLINERY

Wars may come and go and the whole world be consumed by flaming bombs, but ladies will not be deterred from inspecting the new hats when the season bursts into bloom, or from wearing them no matter what the emergency or the crisis.

Silk stockings are only a passing fancy. If it's not silk then it will be something else that will serve the purpose, but denied the opportunity of putting on a dizzy creation a girl is apt to be transformed into a Tartar. It has been said that there is no fury like that of a woman scorned, but the author of the unexpurgated expression forgot to add "or like that of a woman who cannot have a new hat."

And who is M. Henri Bendel, the New York chapeau stylist, to deprive the fair sex of a peep into the future? M. Bendel offers fifty new designs. A man is content with a straw hat or a felt hat or no hat at all, but a woman must have at least fifty from which to choose. He predicts that the long bob is out and the shorter trim is in.

But, not to be diverted from the main subject, among Mr. Bendel's creations is a Venetian cap which clings to the crown of the head and dips almost to the nape of the neck. At the top it rises to a curly point like a gondolier's cap. This should be very interesting to Signor Mussolini, who is no holding down a part-time job somewhere in Italy.

Mr. Bendel also has hats that tilt kindly over the eyes—very handy, no doubt, for ladies slightly in their cups or who want to appear rougier despite advanced age. He also has a dozen or so of fur hats of mink, beaver and Persian.

MAKING MANKIND OVER

Most evolutionists are convinced that Man is the tip of the evolutionary tree. With all the advancement of science the answer still is "nobody" to the query of the Sermon on the Mount: "Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?"

Is Superman is even now evolving, he is not a potential giant, in a physical sense, but rather through increasing knowledge, scientific experiment, easy and extensive means of communication and skills in the tools of his own devising. Despite all that, the betterment of his own kind, as physical beings—animals, if you will—in order that life may be easier, longer and more secure, is a prime concern of a profession to which Man owes much.

In the current issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association is a striking instance of such betterment. It concerns a woman of 35, who had been a burden to herself, an object of pity to relatives and friends and perhaps of ridicule to heartless outsiders. In a year and a half, by diet under strict medical supervision, an actual 300 pounds was taken off her weight of 479½. For a time after this period she could scarcely walk because her muscles were too long. A judicious under-diet had caused her body to consume its own fat for heat and energy. Naturally surgery had to remove the sagging skin, no difficult task, and the former victim of gross adiposity is reported today vastly improved mentally as well as physically.

Standing alone, this case would be but a freak item in a day's news. Its importance is in the expressed hope that a means has been discovered to abolish obesity, however great, and to do it without any risk to the sufferer. It is the same medical science that has eliminated the danger of deaths by millions from typhoid, small pox, yellow fever and to a great degree, tuberculosis, can "cure" the fat and the painfully thin, and, as a next step, eliminate organic causes of both conditions, the evolutionary process is still going on, even if it is not by natural selection.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

RURAL SCHOOLING NATIONAL PROBLEM

In this column, I have used the word "youth" to mean those in their teens or early twenties. In most publications about youth, the ages referred to are between 16 and 24 years inclusive. Such is the meaning of "youth" in this column today.

Of the 21,000,000 youths in the United States, about 10,000,000 live in rural communities, in the open country or places of less than 2500 population.

According to the 1930 census, 58% of rural youth live on farms, and 42% in villages. In 1935 there were 1,150,000 more young people in rural communities than in 1930.

More students attend high schools in the United States than similar schools in all other nations combined. Yet, of those high school age, only 61% of the rural children are in school and 68% of the urban children.

Many Illiterates

One out of every twenty rural farm youths is illiterate; one in thirty-three rural village youths as against one in a hundred in urban communities. In 1930 the farms and 31% of the children of the nation, yet the farmers received only 9% of the national income.

It has been estimated that in 1935 there were 2,000,000 more young people on farms than could be absorbed by available jobs. Farm boys attain the age when they wish to become farmers more than twice as fast as farms become available for them through death or retirement. Modern inventions tend to decrease the opportunities for youth on farms.

In 1932, a survey of the rural youth in nine Ohio townships revealed that 20% of them wanted to enter professions. Yet in 1930, only 67% of all persons gainfully employed were in the professions. When untrained rural youth go to cities they usually get the hardest and most menial jobs with the lowest wages.

Few Libraries

While reading is the one pastime most frequently reported by youth, rural youth are handicapped since but a fourth of them have access to public library service.

About 2,200,000 reach the age of marriage each year, in our nation. The percentage of farm youth under twenty years of age married is about twice as great as that of urban youth. Among those twenty to twenty-four years of age, the rate of marriage is approximately one-third higher on farms than in cities. In large cities, the divorce rate is three times as high as in open country communities.

These and many other facts about rural youth may be found in a pamphlet, "Rural Youth," prepared by Dr. William McKinley Robinson, National Chairman, Rural Service, for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Need Better Teachers

"It is sincerely hoped," writes Dr. Robinson, "that some of the rural youth will wish to remain in their home communities, there to serve in the several professions and service occupations in which today there is a dearth in both quantity and quality. More able and better educated teachers and preachers who see the rural community as something more than the proving grounds of their profession."

Study clubs in the PTA, civic or church groups should find this pamphlet a good source for study and discussion. A selected list of books on understanding and guiding the teen-age youth may be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 45th street, N. Y. City enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp.

Q. Can a child under eight or ten be trained to sleep till any reasonable regular hour in the morning?

A. Yes; and he should be. Say nothing about sleep until the child must not get on his feet till the clock rings or he is called; that if he does he will meet instant and certain discomfort which you will provide effectively. It is absurd that so many tots rise in summer with the birds and disturb or prevent the sleep of the rest of the family, especially of the mother.

Quite a few people have asked us for our old time pickle recipe. If you like pickles follow the recipe to the letter and you will have real pickles.

Take as many cucumbers, large and small and wash them, of course. Put them in a jar or crock. Take a cupful of rock salt to every half-gallon of vinegar. Weaken the vinegar to your taste as regular strong vinegar may not suit you. Have enough of the vinegar to cover the pickles. The small pickles will be ready for use the next day. These pickles will not keep more than a week or so and are not for winter use. Nothing but the salt and vinegar. Remember.

F. D. R. Critic Joins Emergency Setup
Cyrus McCormick On Auto Price Control
Still Strong Backer Of Wendell Wilkie

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—For an anti-New Dealer to be strongly favorable toward the Roosevelt administration's policy of all possible Yankee aid to the democracies and of toughness in the Axis countries' direction isn't a bit inconsistent. Neither is it inconsistent in the administration to be glad of such individual's services in today's emergency. It merely looks a trifle queer at first glance, but not at a second squint.

There was a case of the kind the other day upon announcement of Cyrus McCormick's appointment to specialize on automobile and truck prices in Leon Henderson's agency for control, not only of automobiles, but of everything else, while our present defensive and lease-lend activities continue.

Cyrus, a grandson of the reaper's inventor, undoubtedly is a good man for the job. He used to be works manager of the International Harvester company, which makes trucks as well as farm machinery in general, and certainly knows, in advance, the correct answers to the problems he'll have to deal with as Leon Henderson's aid.

However during the New Deal's first eight years, its domestic objectives, and methods of trying to attain them, had no bitterer critic than Cy McCormick. As a Republican national committeeman, he stood desperately for Wendell Wilkie's election throughout the last presidential campaign. Since then a lot of Republicans have flopped away from Wendell, because the latter's come out for F. D.'s management of foreign affairs. Not Cy, though. He endorses the Hoover policy, and has never been so far from the reason that, on foreign issues, he's pro-Franklin D.

Backs Foreign Policy

Cy supported lease-lending, too. He hasn't declared for American physical participation in the war, but if F. D. should decide for it, he would back him up, he's made it clear that he thinks the White House tenant is as right concerning (Continued On Page Seven)

The World and the Mud Puddles

NO NEED FOR LAWYERS.

It is one of the rowdies in Jack Cade's mob who cries out in Shakespeare's Henry VI. "The first thing we do, let's kill all the lawyers." Tyrants, high or low, naturally distrust a profession which has to do with the processes of orderly justice. The lawyer's status in Nazi Germany bears out this idea. In the May issue of the American Bar Association Journal, a graduate in jurisprudence from the University of Heidelberg, who gave up his practice in Germany and migrated to America three years ago make some interesting disclosures.

Under the Hitler regime, he says, lawyers and courts alike are superfluous. The country's economic life is so completely regulated by government that businessmen have no choice of action or method; they simply obey orders. So it is with all activities and relationships. Where property rights and personal rights are reduced to the dead level of a totalitarian state, and where it means imprisonment or death to assert an opinion contrary to the prescribed view, people rarely indulge in differences. They settle their cases out of court or leave them undetermined.

There is no legislation—merely edicts—and no trials in a truly legal sense. The Fuehrer alone is the single source of law, and his statements and speeches are equivalent to a legal interpretation of the existing law. Whenever a case having "political" aspects is before a court, agents of the Gestapo are present. "If a sentence is not satisfying to them, they step in, arrest the person involved before the eyes of the judge, and 'correct' any sentence by means of the concentration camp." The most widely known instance is that of Pastor Niemöller, who, though acquitted by the Court, was seized by the Gestapo and consigned to one of the slow-torture places which the gentle Hitler reserves for those who refuse to fall down and worship him.

Such is the status of law and of lawyers in Germany, the system that set out to remake the world in its own vile image.

The Great Game Of Politics

A Man Of Principle

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. OBSERVING the course of the Republicans in Congress at this session, it is impossible to escape the conclusion that in the main, their primary concern has been—and still is—with the 1942 elections. They had an opportunity to play a fine role in this emergency. They have chosen an ignoble and unworthy one.

THERE has been no need for them to sacrifice their party independence, nor to accept everything that Mr. Roosevelt did as right because of the exigencies of defense. There has been plenty of opportunity for them to make a party record by pounding away at the weakness and incompetence of the defense organization. There has been every justification for indicting the Administration for its craven policy toward organized labor; for its supine yielding to pressure from the farm lobby; for the feebleness with which it is dealing with the inflation danger; for the absurdity of its price-control program; and for its failure to reduce non-defense expenditures.

NOT only could valuable political capital have been made by the Republicans if they had concentrated upon these things but a genuine patriotic service would have been performed. It still would be greatly to the national advantage to inform the people more fully of the muddle in which the defense effort is involved and bring to the public attention the inexcusable waste concealed behind the defense screen. But, the Republicans have grappled with these things in an ineffectual and halfhearted manner. They have muffed their chance for constructive criticism and useful opposition.

INSTEAD, they have tried in a succession of votes to sabotage the President's foreign policy, and even since the Lend-Lease Act committed the country as the ally of the British, have seemed to seek political support from the isolationist and anti-British elements. It has been a shoddy and shameful performance. This does not apply to Republicans such as Senators Taft of Ohio, Johnson of California and one or two others, who are contrived isolationists. It does apply to the great bulk of the Republicans who have been proceeding on the theory that (Continued On Page Seven)

Happigrams

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Winfield Scott Baxter of Philadelphia had dreamed for years of retiring from his contracting business and building a sail-boat in which to cruise the waters of Delaware Bay without a care in the world.

Last fall he did retire at the age of 74, and spent many a happy hour in his cellar, building a beautiful 20-foot craft of California redwood.

A few days ago the boat was finished and he invited his friends to the christening party.

But the excitement proved too much and, on the day of the celebration, Baxter died from a heart attack.

And while he never set out to sea what glorious trips he must have taken when that boat was still a dream!

Realization is so often disappointing; the great pleasure is in planning and anticipating.

Attendance Contest Starts All Over Again At Field Club Dinner

The Vandling men dined as guests of King's team.

Captain King and his team "paid off" with a pretty swell party—it was golf in the afternoon and a general good time at night—and then challenged his fellow clubmen to a new contest. He said he'd take the men he led before and trim another captained by Arthur R. "Boss" Heizman. If he loses again, he'll personally buy everybody's dinner. He'll expect Heizman to do the same if he wins. Heizman accepted, and the contest runs from September 1 to November 1.

Informal speech-making came at the dinner. Musical entertainment was provided.

Bridge Collapses, Driver Is Injured

Bridge Near Blacktown Collapses As Truck Driven By Arthur Habel Goes Over

A New Castle truck driver miraculously escaped serious injury shortly after 9 this morning when the bridge over Neshannock creek on the Mercer-Blacktown Pinchot road collapsed under the weight of his tractor-trailer.

Only slightly bruised, Arthur Habel, 27, of New Castle R. F. D. 1, climbed out of his cab and through the twisted bridge superstructure to safety.

The span's overhead framework crushed down on the tractor top, reports said, and Habel's escape with minor lacerations was considered remarkable. He got medical attention at the scene.

The trailer, owned by the New Castle Duntile Co. here, Habel's employer, was carrying a load of highway construction equipment when the bridge went down. While the bridge was wrecked, the New Castle Duntile office here was notified its trucking equipment was not greatly damaged. The office was told there is a drop of about 20 feet from the bridge floor to the river bed.

Says Army Morale Hurt By Argument

General Marshall Maintains Military Forces Shaken By Nationwide Debate

(International News Service)
DENVER, Aug. 21.—Declaring that the morale of the army is only as high as that of the public, Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, today maintained that the spirit of America's growing military forces has been shaken by nationwide debates.

Army morale was excellent until it became a matter of argument, General Marshall said. "Since then morale has been affected," he stated.

"Morale is far more vital to an army than the character of its equipment. It depends in large measure on the morale of the people behind the army—on their unity of purpose."

General Annoyed

Obviously annoyed by hints that legislation to release draftees 2 years old and over from military service was sponsored by the war department to "bolster morale," the army chief continued:

"Plans to release men over 28 from active service were taken in accordance with plans of the war department and statements made by me in my biennial report before these debates took place."

"Such a course would not be taken if a tremendous increase in army personnel were under way. Such is not the course at present, nor is it contemplated for the near future."

General Marshall said replacement of selectees at present is a routine procedure "necessary to make way for the annual influx of new selective service men."

The army chief arrived in Denver by plane late yesterday with secretary of war Henry Stimson on an inspection tour of army defense facilities in the area while enroute to war games under way in the Pacific northwest.

Stimson voiced a new warning that the United States must "awaken" to the "serious danger we are facing."

"It is hard to get the people who don't read the cables from abroad to realize what a serious danger we are facing," he said. "And we'll remain in serious danger as long as the public does not wake up."

Feller Lists Parents As His Dependents

Not Yet Classified For Draft; Has Not Asked Deferment

(International News Service)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 21.—Although Bob Feller's draft board failed to classify him at its meeting last night, it was learned today that the Cleveland star pitcher had listed his mother and father as dependents in his questionnaire and, as a result, may be deferred.

Such a possibility is based on action taken by a Philadelphia draft board which deferred Benny McCoy of the Athletics although he had been tagged 1-A on the assumption that his $65,000 salary and bonus received during the past two years would be sufficient to care for his dependents.

This followed a presidential ruling that the Conscription Act does not require prospective draftees to support their parents out of money saved.

Feller, however, has repeatedly said he has not asked for deferment and that the matter rested entirely with his draft board.

William Feller, the pitcher's father, has been in ill health during the past six years and Bob has contributed substantially to his medical care. Mrs. Feller has not been in good health either for the past two years and there also is a young unmarried sister dependent on him.

Boys' Work Center Getting New Shop

At the Boys Work Experience Center, of the N. Y. A., at Cunningham Park, trenches are dug, and forms and footers are in place for the erection of a new large steel Butler Type shop.

The size of the building will be 14 feet by 76 feet. It will be a combination machine and welding shop.

Foundations for the building are expected to be ready by August 30, and after that date it is anticipated the material will be shipped here for the completion of the building.

John Frazer, superintendent of construction, states that the cribbing material has arrived for the digging of the trenches from the plot to the sewer, and those within the plot. The trenching machine has resumed operations.

In the past weeks, much concrete has been poured, including floors in the shower, furnace rooms and laundry. Plumbers have installed fixtures, and done rough plumbing. The barracks are ready for the installation of heating systems, as soon as workmen are secured.

The staff cottage, infirmary, recreation, administration building, and one of the barracks have been covered with wide bungalow siding. The former has been oil stained in dark brown with window painted cream, making a good color contrast.

In No. 1 Truscon Type machine shop, there are ten machines, lathes, drill press, power saw and milling machines.

Thirty-Two Boys

There are 32 boys on the machine shop enrollment, under the supervision of P. P. Simpson, of Volant. The boys started this week on actual training of forty hours a week.

In No. 2 shop there are 15 welding tables, with 28 boys at work this week, with an enrollment of 40. This instruction is supervised by Monroe Kinneman. This course is in acetylene welding at the completion of which, the boys, if qualified, may go on to atomic hydrogen welding machines, furnished by the Curtis Wright Airplane Corporation. John Kunkula, Pittsburgh, of the corporation, has arrived to assist in this instruction. Mr. Kinneman states that the boys are making splendid progress.

The Great Game Of Politics

ultimately the Roosevelt foreign policy will prove unpopular with the people and that, through consistent opposition, they will be able to ride back into their jobs when the tide turns.

THE have given evidence of this idea upon a number of occasions, but none more convincing than in the recent House vote on the resolution to extend the period of service for the drafted men in the army.

In the House 133 Republicans lined up against this resolution, which was passed by the hairline margin of one vote. The Republican opposition in the Senate was almost as solid, though the vote was not as close. It is not pleasant to contemplate the consequences had this resolution been defeated. It would have been a mortifying repudiation of the Chief of Staff of the United States Army. It would have demoralized the entire military establishment which have been building up at the cost of many billions. It would have been a disheartening demonstration of the inability of a democracy to discipline itself or defend itself.

It would have given joy to the Axis powers and caused our Latin-American friends to doubt our strength. And it would have dismayed our ally.

ALL these things would have happened if the Republicans had had their way with this resolution. Granting that some among them voted from conviction, in the main the Republican vote was a political vote. Most of them voted not with an eye as to what was best for the country, but as to what was best for themselves in their respective districts and States. What they had in mind was an appeal to the friends and relatives of the drafted men at home who want to get their boys back after a year in the army. The twenty-one House Republicans who supported the Administration on this vote deserve general commendation. Without them the resolution would have failed. Without them the Administration and the country would now be in a painful position. There is reason to be grateful to them. In particular, there is reason to be grateful to Representative James W. Wadsworth of New York. No wonder the House gave him a standing ovation when just before the vote was taken he made a final appeal to members of his party to put patriotism above politics.

IT was around him that those twenty other Republicans gathered. It was his unswerving support that really averted defeat. Mr. Wadsworth is one of those all too rare birds in public life—a man of principle. Because he was a man of principle back in the days when he was a Senator from New York he took a frank stand against prohibition and against woman suffrage, though the knew well he was endangering his political life. He was elected in 1926 for no other reason than that he had been honest and courageous enough to say what he thought. Had he been re-elected he would have been the logical nominee of his party for the Presidency in 1928. Looking back now at the bad luck of the man who was elected President that year, Mr. Wadsworth probably is glad he was beaten. At any rate, he is still standing by his principles—and never more admirably than in the past year. Look the Congress over and it is not easy to pick another who has rendered greater public service in that period. His friends have a right to be proud of him. His party would have done well to have followed him.

ing foreign relations as he considered him wrong domestically. And Leon Henderson? Leon's been a 100 per cent New Dealer all along. He was one of the higher-ups in NRA. Cy rated NRA as awful and included Leon in his denunciations of it. Now the pair are associates in price fixing. Till bet Cy would swallow NRA also, if it were still in existence and operating in consonance with toughness of our attitude Axis-ward.

Well, as previously remarked, this isn't inconsistent. When the New Deal began getting domestically busy, Cyrus, like quite a few other folk, took the position that its trend was totalitarian—perhaps not as much so as the Nazis and Fascists', but enough so to be alarming. So they fought it for all they were worth. They kept it up until the war started. Then, almost overnight, they evidently arrived at the conclusion that it was essential for them, as F. D. once expressed it, to take first things first. And their judgment was that beating the Axis was entitled to a high priority over opposition to the New Deal.

When the Time Comes

Incidentally, as the war's warmed up, the New Deal has been considerably less vociferously New Dealerish domestically. A few critics, like Chairman Joseph W. Martin of the Republican national committee, maintain that the New Deal's still promoting itself under the guise of national defense—that we'll find ourselves under a permanent dictatorship when the emergency passes. But Cyrus' thesis is that that's something we can attend to when the time comes, whereas we'll be under a dictatorship (and a foreign one), anyway, if the Axis wins. It's at least arguable.

It is a good deal similar to the

Food Packages Reach Prisoners In German Camps

Receipts Have Been Received
By Red Cross From
100,000 Prisoners

R. F. Davis, chairman of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross, has been advised of the sending of food packages to Allied prisoners. One of the bright spots in the European war is the way in which the American Red Cross has been able to ship more than 100,000 food boxes to Allied prisoners inside Germany.

Not only has the American Red Cross been able to report safe delivery by the International Red Cross at Geneva, but American donors of the food boxes are getting postcard receipts signed by the prisoners.

Within a broader program in which the American Red Cross provides food packages, clothing and comfort articles for general distribution among Allied prisoners, special food packages are sent at $2.40 each to identified prisoners on behalf of friends and relatives in this country.

Despite disrupted postal communications, more than 2,000 receipts have come back to Washington. They are passed on to donors through local chapters.

While the American Red Cross

forwards supplies for prisoners of war in Germany, it also serves as an intermediary for gifts to German and Italian prisoners interned in Canada. When funds or supplies are received from the German or Italian embassies here, they are transmitted to a delegate of the International Red Cross in Canada who visits internment camps where Axis soldiers and civilians are interned.

Hospital Strike May Be Settled In Short While

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Settlement of the four months' old strike of service workers at the West Penn hospital was reported imminent late Wednesday.

Under terms of the reported agreement, a grievance committee is provided for and a minimum wage of $45 a month replaces the old rate of $38 a month as soon as the hospital can afford to grant the increase.

All of the 378 employees who walked out last April 18 will be reinstated, according to reports, with the exception of those workers who are regarded as "trouble makers" by the hospital authorities.

Before becoming effective, however, the agreement must be approved by the hospital's board of trustees and by Local 253, CIO State County and Municipal Workers of America.

Old Timers' Reunion Draws Crowd To Park

feel responsible for the fine community which has been established here, because it was their ancestors who laid the foundation for Lawrence county and New Castle, literally carving it out of the wooded hills which once existed here.

Grand March

Frank H. Robinson was then introduced, and he called for those present to line up for the grand march, with Mrs. George A. Carpenter of Sheridan avenue and George L. McGuffin of Pittsburgh leading the procession. They were chosen in memory of Hon. Lawrence L. McGuffin, the first judge of Lawrence county, Mrs. Carpenter being a granddaughter of the honored one, and Mr. McGuffin a son.

Then followed a score or more of folk who really deserved the recognition they received by being given places at the head of the line; those who have observed 50 years or more of marital happiness.

Included in this group were: Mr. and Mrs. John Rae, married 64 years; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Kerr, married 53 years; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall, married 55 years; Mr. and Mrs. James P. Siebner, married 59 years; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert M. Robinson of Edinburg, married 58 years; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Chain, married 60 years; Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Glover, married 53 years; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. P. Green, married 55 years; Mr. and Mrs. A. Kirkwood, married 51 years; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Allshouse, married 50 years; all of New Castle; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moore of Arcadia, Calif., married 52 years; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert M. Robinson of Edinburg, married 58 years; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wallbank of Sharon, married 54 years; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Armstrong of Zelienople, married 50 years; Mr. and Mrs. William B. Rodenbaugh of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., married 55 years, and then came many of the executive committee with President Sankey, Fred L. Rentz, Dr. Samuel W. Perry, Fred P. Butz, R. H. Whaley, George S. Long, with their ladies, followed by a host of Old Timers.

Immediately after the grand march, a quadrille was called, and with Joe Brooks calling the figures, those who danced these familiar old formations more than a half century ago, lined up with some of the younger Old Timers to "swing their partners." Past President Fred L. Rentz and Mrs. Rentz showed they had forgotten none of their grace and technique.

Afterwards there were some old-fashioned waltzes and still more square dancing.

Introduce Leo Griffith

During a recess in the program, Leo Griffith of Pittsburgh, descendant of one of New Castle's old families was introduced. He is a member of the executive committee, and a leader in Pittsburgh civic affairs. Mr. Griffith called attention to the fact that Judge Thomas W. Dickey, who spoke to them just a year ago, was no longer with them, and asked that they stand for a moment of silence in honor of his memory.

He urged that both the Old

Timers and the new timers get together and boost for the betterment of New Castle to offset the propaganda that New Castle is going backwards instead of forwards.

Members of the New Castle Fire Department rescue squad were on hand all day with their mobile first aid unit, to be prepared for any emergency, but their services were not required.

There were many present whose parents had an honorable part in the building of this community, some of whom had not been present for many a year, and some who, themselves, years ago, helped to build well.

Among these were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Rodenbaugh, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Mr. Rodenbaugh retired only a few years ago, after spending 55 years in the contracting and building business. He built Croton church, and many fine residences in what was known as "Middletown" that section between Croton and the business district centering around Crawford avenue.

Another was W. A. Osbourne, of Brookfield, C., whose father, was cashier of the old Folz Bank, and later was associated with Thomas W. Phillips in the Butler oil fields. Mr. Osbourne left New Castle in 1884 and had not been back for one of the reunions for a number of years.

Another who, while not an Old Timer, was remembered for his exploits here on the baseball diamond in the person of Ernest Carroll, of Aliquippa, a player for New Castle in the old O. P. League.

And there were many, many others, all of whom could have related some interesting history of the part their families had played, who came here from afar, beside a great many from our own community, many of whom had not been present on Old Timers Day for a number of years.

Oldest Person

The oldest person registered was Mrs. J. E. McKibben, of New Brighton, Pa., 91 years of age, and the next was Mrs. Harry Walls, of 401 Galtbreath avenue, 90 years of age; while those who were in their 80's would make a long list, topped by Mrs. S. J. Rhodes, of Highland avenue, 87; R. H. Whaley, of Chestnut street, 87; Thomas Elliott, of 324 Wallace avenue, 89; W. T. Carnes, of 732 Butler avenue, 89; I. B. Griffiths, 326 West Washington street, 85; J. C. Orfutt, Volant, 85; Tom Hinkson, Dewey avenue; J. C. Gervin, North Cascade street, 83 each; J. E. Dunn, 82, who came clear from Hendersonville, N. C.; Mrs. Caroline Carson, Walpole, 84; J. E. Ramsey, R. P. D. No. 6, 83; John B. Haley, Glenmore boulevard, 83; Joseph Syling, Ellwood City, 83; H. P. Carpenter, Milton street, 82; and many others in their low 80's and nearing that mark.

A splendid job was done by the Misses Sally Norris and Barbara Brinzer in registering those in attendance.

The executive committee, which had charge of the arrangements and plans for the day, is composed of: Fred B. Sankey, president; Fred L. Rentz, O. H. P. Green, vice president; Fred Paul Butz, treasurer; Herbert S. Kirk, secretary, and R. H. Whaley, R. H. McCann, Richard F. Dana, Frank H. Robinson, Guy J. Wadlinger, James K. ## PRESIDENT GIVES CONGRESS REPORT OF SEA MEETING matically released from the high seas, Mr. Roosevelt advised Congress:

"The declaration of principles at this time presents a goal which is worthwhile for our type of civilization to seek.

Armed Breath

"It is so clear-cut that it is difficult to oppose in any major particular without automatically admitting a willingness to accept compromise with Nazism; or to agree to a world peace which would give to Nazism domination over large numbers of conquered nations. Inevitably such a peace would be a gift to Nazism to take breath—armed breath—for a second war to extend the control over Europe and Asia to the American hemisphere itself.

"It is perhaps unnecessary for me to point out that the declaration of principles includes of necessity the world need for freedom of religion and freedom of information. No society of the world organized under the announced principles could survive without these freedoms which are a part of the whole freedom for which we strive."

The President in his message in effect tied the joint declaration of peace principles into the policy already laid down by Congress through the lend-lease act to aid the democracies which are waging war against dictatorships.

Mr. Roosevelt reported that "the military and naval conversations" at his meeting with Churchill and the British war command had "made clear gains in furthering the effectiveness" of aid under the lend-lease program.

The President also advised Congress formally that he and the prime minister are planning conferences with the Soviet Union to give Russia effective aid in its defense against the German attack.

The President's message was brief in its original text. He embodied in his report the full text of the declaration he and Churchill jointly signed aboard the U. S. S. Augusta. The White House disclosed that congressional leaders had suggested such a report when they met with him last Monday immediately following his return.

It was then agreed that the declaration would be laid before Congress for the record on the first day both House and Senate were in session.

The Senate already has had one day of vigorous debate over the Roosevelt-Churchill declaration, with Sen. Hiram Johnson (R) Cal., a veteran isolationist charging that the President had committed the United States to war.

Barkley Denies

This was vigorously denied by Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley, who was present at the Monday White House conference with Mr. Roosevelt, gave an account of his cruise to congressional leaders.

Johnson based his premise on the sixth point, which calls for a new world order "after the final destruction of the Nazi tyranny."

The Chief Executive drafted his brief report to Congress in lead pencil, covering six to eight pages of copy paper with the text, which was put into more formal shape and presented to both Senate and House at noon today.

FORMER LOCAL MAN SOUGHT FOR MURDER

gheny General hospital of cuts and stab wounds in his abdomen, neck and hand.

The "peace-maker" was Thomas R. Sheridan, 43, who was taken to the same hospital, where he was reported suffering critical cuts on the left side and abdomen.

Detective Inspector Walter Monaghan said Clyde Burch, formerly of New Castle, was being sought as the slayer. He was described as a husky limping man who apparently carried a sharp knife or dagger concealed in a cane. Police teletypes carried a request for regional police to be on the lookout for Burch.

The quarrel, the official report said, was over Vera Humberston, 29, of Elm Witnesses said the men argued outside the cafe, and returned to the bar where the "other man" suddenly whipped out the weapon and slashed viciously at Burch and also hit Sheridan, who had tried to intervene.

The stabbings occurred in the same cafe where only a month ago a similar "triangle" incident led to the "one-punch" slaying of George W. Howells, 48, in Federal street.

Burch is an old offender in Lawrence County, having been convicted of robbery and burglary on two occasions, and assault and battery on another having been released from the county jail on parole only last December, 26, after being sentenced for a year on an assault and battery charge, growing out of an attack on

J. Raymond Cluse in the Rex cafe on West Washington street.

On June 18, 1933, he was sentenced to the western penitentiary from two to four years on a charge of breaking into the home of Cora Cunningham of Perry township.

His first appearance before a local court was after breaking into the Norman jewelry store here in September, 1928, being convicted with Leo Grisdale of this crime. On August 15, 1932, he was sentenced to a term of from five months to three years in the county jail, being paroled on December 15, 1932.

Will Train Women For Nurse Service

New Castle To Get Request From Red Cross For Share Of 100,000 Nurses

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 21.—Red Cross ladies of New Castle will shortly receive from national headquarters a plea for cooperation in the training of 100,000 volunteer nurses' aides within the next 12 months.

The program is preparatory to a great expansion in hospital beds which may be required during the national emergency at a time when the already over-burdened nursing facilities of civilian hospitals are seriously impaired, due to the demands of the military and naval establishments and the increasing needs of public health and industrial hygiene services. Training of 100,000 volunteer nurses' aides is designed to expand the effectiveness of trained nurses in hospitals, clinics and field nursing services by supplying qualified assistants who can work under their direction. The curriculum of instruction has been prepared by the office of civilian defense, American Red Cross, and the federal security agency.

Eighty Hours
The course will require 80 hours of intensive instruction over a period of seven weeks. The first half of the course will be given by local Red Cross chapters in collaboration with local hospitals and nursing organizations. The remainder of the course will consist of supervised practice in a hospital designed by the O. C. D. and the Red Cross as a training center.

Those who complete the course will be enrolled in the volunteer nurses' aide corps of the Red Cross with assurance that they will be given important duties in civilian defense. They will retain their membership in the corps only so long as they continue to render adequate volunteer service during the national emergency. This is defined as 150 hours of volunteer service in a hospital, clinic, or field nursing organization in at least one three-month period in each calendar year.

Wear Uniform
Volunteer nurses' aides will wear the uniform and insignia of the office of civilian defense. The insignia will be a red cross within the triangle of the O. C. D. indicating that the aide was enrolled and trained by the Red Cross in civilian defense.

Red Cross national headquarters said instructions to local chapters were being rushed and that copies would be shortly mailed into Pennsylvania. It was stated the Red Cross was desirous of having this new program in operation by September 1.

The Writer Of Hebrews Explains The New Covenant

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Christ the remunerator

"Having been made perfect, He became unto all them that obey Him the author of eternal salvation."—Heb. 5:9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 24 is Hebrew 8:1-10:18. The Golden Text being Heb. 5:9. "Having been made perfect, He became unto all them that obey Him the author of eternal salvation.")

IT IS not known where the book of Hebrews was written, nor when it was written nor by whom. It is thought it must have been inscribed about A. D. 67, before the fall of Jerusalem, and it is ascribed to Paul. This is disputed, however, and some say Timothy wrote it.

It really is immaterial who wrote it, as the lesson contained therein is just as potent for good, no matter who the author was. It was written to the Jewish Christians, especially to those who may have been discouraged with the then new religion for which they were likely to be persecuted, and who wished to return to their old religion—Judaism.

The writer points out the old covenant of the Lord with Moses was not the best possible, so God had made a new covenant, with Christ as the only mediator between Himself and man.

He describes the old tabernacle made by the first wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread; which is called the sanctuary.

"And after the second veil, the tabernacle which is called the Holiest of all;

"Which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was the golden pot that had manna, and Aaron's rod that budded; and the tables of the covenant; and over it the cherubims of glory, shadowing the mercy seat."

Only High Priest Enters

He then explains that no one but the high priest ever went into the holy of holies, and he only went once a year. The other priests went always into the first, "accomplishing the service of God." Always they took gifts for the altar.

AROUND CITY HALL

Mayor Charles B. Mayne and council colleagues today accepted an invitation from Sharon city officials to attend the Sharon centennial, August 24-30.

City Director of Safety D. O. Davies has ordered six new fire hydrants. However, before he can buy them he must secure priority rights from the OPM. The city is without replacements, at present.

Bond of W. J. Bradford, local plumber, was approved by council today, following recommendations of City Solicitor R. M. White.

Council reported favorably from committee and indicated adoption of ordinances calling for an easement of property at Grove and Neal streets, needed for the Route 422 by-pass and for an adjustment of Croton avenue extension grades with intersecting streets.

Council met today in city hall and authorized the payment of approximately $100 to the park commission. The money will be used by the commission to secure data for a proposed bathing pool in Dean Park next year.

France Not To Turn Over Fleet

French Ambassador Gives Assurance To State Secretary Cordell Hull

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Reassured assurance that France has no intention of turning over the French fleet or French colonial bases to Germany were given by Secretary of State Cordell Hull Wednesday by French Ambassador Henri-Haye.

The assurances were given by the French envoy in the course of a formal explanation of Marshal Henri Petain's recent declaration in which he intimated closer French collaboration with Germany.

Ambassador Henri-Haye told reporters that he also had called Secretary Hull's attention to recent cartoons published in the American press reflecting on Marshal Petain's character.

"I expressed regret that such insulting cartoon should be published in the American press," the ambassador said. "I did not make a formal protest because I know that the American press is free, but I feel that it is all the more reason why it should be careful. Marshal Petain's reputation is much too high to be touched by such things as these cartoons."

Does Not Bear Threat
"I explained to Mr. Hull," the envoy continued, "the points in Marshal Petain's speech. It was very easy for me to demonstrate that the marshal's speech does not bear the threats that big headlines in the American press presented to their readers."

"I recalled the fact it is now one year since I arrived here to represent my country. I pointed out that during that entire year we have been accused of an intention to turn over the French fleet and French colonies to Germany, but we have not done so."

The ambassador said he had informed Secretary Hull that he hopes to return home in the near future to report to his government. He told newspapermen that he hopes his trip will not be misunderstood in this country as representing any further deterioration in relations.

Registration totals for the county are as follows: Democrats, 17,753; Republicans, 26,286; other parties, 458.

There were 972 new voters registered this summer, including 523 Democrats, 436 Republicans and 13 of other parties. A total of 347 names were removed from registration lists because of death and 2,395 were removed for other reasons, chiefly because of failure to participate in an election during a period of years prior to the registration period for the coming election.

Forty-two former Democrats changed their party affiliation to Republican and 128 former Republicans changed their affiliation to the Democratic party.

Over Twenty Million Monthly War Orders

By JACK VINCENT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The U. S. is taking over British orders placed in this country at the rate of more than $20,000,000 a month, the OPM revealed Wednesday as Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, continued Washington conferences to speed aid to England.

The English supply minister talked to OPM Director William S. Knudsen and other high defense and navy officials for two hours and a half yesterday, after first having lunch with Mr. Roosevelt. After the Knudsen conference, Lord Beaverbrook said:

Asked Favors

"Mr. Knudsen is a production man. My business is production. I'm a supply minister. We talked about production all afternoon. We exchanged views and production figures to see if we couldn't strike a balance. I asked for many favors and concessions. Mr. Knudsen shows a disposition to be very generous."

The conference it is reported, revolved about the question of speeding up food supplies to England as well as arms and munitions. The shipping problem also was discussed. This was indicated by the presence of W. H. Harrison, OPM deputy director of ship production, at the meeting.

Meanwhile, the OPM disclosed in a defense "progress report" made available to the British in Washington that this government is taking over millions of dollars worth of orders which had been placed by the British with U. S. business firms.

This indicates, according to OPM sources, that English buying in this country has about reached its peak and that most of the future contracts for Britain will be financed through lease-lend appropriations.

Need More Money

About $7,000,000,000 was originally appropriated by congress for the lease-lend program and reports are persistent in Washington that President Roosevelt will soon ask for additional billions.

According to the OPM progress report, British orders reached their peak in the U. S. on June 15. At that time the British had placed $3,692,000,000 worth of orders with American firms.

The report showed that on July 31 outstanding British orders totaled only $3,637,000,000, or a drop of $55,000,000 for the 45-day period. A footnote on the report explained: "When figures show a decrease from previous figures the difference reflects absorption of British contracts by U. S. government agencies."

So far, according to the report, the British have made $2,150,000,000 in payments on their orders, but their American dollar resources are dwindling. The U. S. is gradually expected to take over a great portion of the outstanding British contracts probably as much as $1,000,000,000 worth and pay for them with lease-lend funds.

Lord Beaverbrook declined to say whether the conferences with American defense chiefs took up the question of aid to Russia. However, it was presumed that the English supply minister's visit to the capital would cover the full scope of World War II, including Russian aid.

Van Voorhis To Be Transferred

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The army on Wednesday announced that Lt. Gen. Daniel Van Voorhis, now commanding the Caribbean defense forces and the Panama Canal department will be transferred to command the Fifth Corps Area, Fort Hayes, Ohio, October 1.

Van Voorhis will be succeeded by Maj. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, Maj. Gen. Clement A. Tate, now commanding the Fifth Corps Area will report to Chicago September 30 to await "instructions."

At the same time, Brig. Gen. Russell P. Hartig was relieved from duty with the Sixth Infantry Division, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and assigned to duty with the Thirty-Fourth Infantry Division, Camp Claiborne, La.

American Mission To Moscow Planned

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The United States government is actively considering appointment of an American mission to Moscow to participate in the proposed Anglo-American-Russian conference to discuss aid to the Soviet Union, secretary of State Cordell Hull said Wednesday.

Hull indicated that President Roosevelt is handling the selection of those who will compose the American delegation.

Appointment of the delegation Hull added, has been made possible by the Soviet government's acceptance of the Anglo-American proposal for the conference.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Diaphragmatic hernia has been dubbed "upside-down stomach." It is an old, frequent disorder and many have had it.

The diaphragm is a membrane separating abdomen from chest cavity. This membrane may be defective since birth or due to injury.

Part of the intestines protrude upward into the chest cavity. There are many instances in which there are no symptoms.

Usual symptoms are distress or actual pain after meals.

In large hernias, whole organs protrude into the chest opening. The victim suffers abnormality in heart or digestive function.

Gas or gurgling occurs in the chest after meals. Treatment may be simply one of proper diet.

In unusual cases, diaphragmatic hernia calls for surgical operations.

Plan To Train 50,000 Youths

NYA To Speed Up Training Program To Provide Skilled Defense Workers

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 21.—Spurred on by the need for skilled labor, the state office of the National Youth Administration today announced it was planning to train approximately 50,000 young people for defense and other jobs during the next 10 months.

"This is made possible," stated Isaac C. Sutton, state N.Y.A. administrator, "through a high-speed combined actual work experience and related training program set up by officials of the N.Y.A., the State Department of Public Instruction and the State Employment Service."

The program is designed to give the 50,000 young people actual experience in shop and mechanical work which will prepare them for jobs in private industry. More than 2300 of them, women as well as men, left the state rolls of the N.Y.A. during June to take private jobs, Sutton disclosed. This represented a 140 per cent. gain over last January in employment.

Terry Moore Was Not Badly Injured

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Billy Southworth, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, received word from Boston this afternoon that Terry Moore, the club's great centerfielder, was not seriously injured by the pitched ball that knocked him unconscious during yesterday's game.

X-rays made this morning revealed that Moore's skull was not fractured by the fast ball thrown by Art Johnson of the Boston Braves.

"Dr. Eddie O'Brien (the Braves' physician) telephoned the good news to me from Boston in accordance with a pre-arrangement," Southworth explained. "He told me Moore has a pretty bad bang on the head but will be okay after a few days rest."

Southworth, whose pennant contenders play the lowly Phils in Philadelphia tonight, added that he expected Moore to be back in the lineup for the all-important Brooklyn series starting Sunday.

(International News Service)
NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Aug. 21.—The National Defense Mediation board will look into the complaints of the Aluminum Workers of America, C.I.O., and the Aluminum Company of America, Friday to see if it can settle deadlocked negotiations and avert a threatened strike of 20,000 employees.

U. S. Not To Start Shooting

Entry Into War Will Depend Upon What Others
Do

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 21.—Capt. Elliot Roosevelt, son of the president, today expressed his conviction that America will not enter a "shooting war" until some incident caused by a potential enemy forces the United States into the conflict.

Capt. Roosevelt, in England following the sea meeting between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, told reporters: "I have the utmost confidence in ultimate British victory, and that is the feeling also of the American armed services."

"I was tremendously impressed by the Roosevelt-Churchill meeting. It was a very important step in the progress of the war. But whether it was a turning point in the war remains to be seen."

Asked about his father's denial that the sea conference had brought the United States closer to war, young Roosevelt said "I wouldn't know," and added: "The time when we enter will to a certain extent be influenced or brought about by another power, since our ships and men might be fired on and we are going to protect those ships and men."

Something tells us skirts will soon be much longer. One thing modesty hates to expose is cotton.

Midwest Women Are Replacing Men On Farms

(International News Service)
CHICAGO.—With skilled farm labor at a premium because of the defense program, midwest farm women are proving they can take the places of men on tractors, combines and other complicated farm machinery.

Ordinarily, a farm wife is expected to devote herself to cooking, raising chickens and milking cows. But many farmers, farmers' sons and farm hands have found they now can command $5 to $15 a day in nearby defense industries, so the women have taken over the heavier work.

According to Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, the shortage of skilled farm labor is especially marked in the dairy regions surrounding New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Pittsburgh and Detroit.

"Farmers can't afford to meet the competition of labor offered by defense industry wages of $5 to $10 a day," O'Neal said.

Edith Delaney, a 16-year-old girl, has learned to operate her father's tractor and binder near Chicago. Mrs. Elmer E. Barton, 58, of Peotone, Ill., is farming 80 acres alone, with the aid of a 12-year-old grandson, because she says she can't afford a farm hand.

SCIENTISTS STUDY PRIVATE LIVES OF BACTERIA FAMILY

(International News Service)
BERKELEY, Cal.—The private lives of a family of bacteria which breath carbon dioxide instead of oxygen are undergoing close scrutiny by University of California scientists.

The microscopic organisms are known as methane-producing bacteria. They died upon exposure to oxygen, just like human beings succumb to an overdose of carbon dioxide.

Dr. H. A. Barker, assistant professor of soil microbiology, has invented a system of keeping the microbes in a laboratory without danger of their being affected by oxygen. He feeds them a menu of alcohol, carbon dioxide, ammonia, phosphorus and hydrogen sulphide in a solution.

The microbes have a major chemical task. They are found in swamps and elsewhere where organic matter is decomposed without free oxygen. They produce methane gas—the ordinary household gas—from organic matter.

Methane bacteria are like green plants in that both use carbon dioxide. Plants use it to make sugars, fats and other energy foods, whereas the bacteria use it to produce methane. Until recently it had been thought that only plants could use carbon dioxide.

Churchill and Roosevelt have the same idea: "I'd gladly place a superman in charge of defense, but where is a better man than I am?"

Army Flier Dies In Crash

Second Lieutenant Bradley
Dies When Plane Crashes
In Dive

(International News Service)
WINDSOR LOCKS, Conn., Aug. 21.—Second Lieut. Eugene M. Bradley, 24, of the 64th Squadron, 57th Pursuit group, was killed instantly today when his plane crashed while engaged in a routine maneuver over the new Windsor Locks army air base.

Capt. Charles Robinson, public relations officer of the base, said Bradley went into a dive from which he failed to pull out. He was flying a P-40 pursuit ship. In the air at the same time was a similar plane piloted by First Lieut. Frank Mears.

Surviving Lieut. Bradley is his widow, Ann Bradley, who has been living near the air base; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bradley, of Dela, Okla.

Prepare To Bury Victim Of Fiend

(International News Service)
READING, Pa., Aug. 21.—Funeral arrangements were completed today for eight-year-old Billy Kreson while police sought a scissors-grinder known as "Tony" in their investigation of the child's death inside an ice-box in a vacant Reading store.

Detectives declared the itinerant tried to molest children and lure them to a hobo "jungle" on the banks of the Schuylkill river last week before Billy's disappearance Wednesday. The child's frail body was discovered last Tuesday.

An autopsy showed Billy had died of suffocation and had been criminally abused, police said. Meanwhile authorities learned that the boy, who had several serious accidents, had been the victim at times of "mischief and tricks by older boys in the neighborhood."

HOUSING PROGRAM INCREASED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—The Senate today passed and sent to the White House a bill authorizing the federal housing authority to expand the defense housing program from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000.

The measure was approved by voice vote after a brief explanation by Sen. Maloney (D-Conn.).

Life was easier in the old days. Nobody too his bride or social standing because he smelled bad.

All objections to the joint return boil down to the fact that it makes some people pay more taxes.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Lots Of Work;
No Tennis Court

Tennis No Longer One Of Popular Sports Of Mahoningtown Young People

Everybody appears to be working this summer, and for this reason tennis appears to be little interest in tennis playing. Last season and the year before there were three tennis courts in the Seventh Ward.

The courts were in excellent condition and were well taken care of. Each night persons could be seen at the courts playing games and matches.

This season the only court put in shape for playing was the Progressive club court on South Ashland avenue, and but very few people use it. St. Margaret's church usually has a very active tennis crowd and a fine court, but these too, are missing this year.

Union Service In Methodist Church

Union service for the Mahoningtown churches this Sunday night will be held in the Mahoning Methodist church, it was announced today.

Rev. James E. Smith, pastor of the Madison Avenue Christian church, will deliver the special sermon. This is a change from the original schedule.

Cascade Engineer's Widow
Recalls Early Park Days

Cascade park—the ideal mecca for Old Timers Day, and the most lovely spot in the country for natural beauty—proved a perfect setting with perfect weather, for this annual gathering yesterday. Among the visitors was Mrs. Minnie Walker of Plaingrove, widow of Joseph Walker, who laid out Cascade park years ago.

As she reminisced days of long ago, she related the many evenings that Mr. Walker would have the dining room table at their Plaingrove, drawings and pictures showing where the mid-way of the park was going to be; the location of the springs which still stand in the lovely old park; the artificial lake, the dining room, "Ye Old Mill" and other features when the park was more of a picnic center than it was amusement. "The zoo I remember, had several bears, and they became so savage that the officials had my husband, Mr. Walker, shoot them. The zoo, you know, was located about where the swimming grove farm home heaped high with pool now stands and the bath house was made out of the zoo stables," she stated.

"Many a day I would pack a basket and take my three sons, Carbis, A. Eugene and Gaylord, and go to the park on the open street cars, to spend the day, then return home in the evening with Mr. Walker. I do so look forward to Old Timers Day, for it means so much to me—it is so endeared—and I know were Mr. Walker here today he would enjoy seeing the changes that have taken place as well as mingle with his many friends."

Mrs. Walker, a highly educated woman, and a teacher of college subjects, carried on the farm duties after the death of Mr. Walker in 1907, raising her three small sons to grown men. As each boy became

Calumet Celtic Wins 2:18 Pace At Fair Track

Yankee Boy Takes 2:25 Trot And Josedale Guy Wins 2:16 Handicap Trot

RICHIE BOOTS TWO RUNNERS ACROSS WIRE

Yankee Boy captured the 2:25 trot in straight heats. Josedale Guy captured two of three heats in the 2:16 handicap or faster trot and Calumet Celtic won three straight heats in the 2:18 pace yesterday at the New Castle track. Tip in Johnson and Old Pete were the running race winners. The grandstand was almost filled. The track was fast and the weather clear. There'll be six races today, three harness and three running events. Harry Gold is the starter.

In the first event, the 2:25 trot, Yankee Boy, driven by Harold Johnson, was the class. He had too much trot for Silver Ted and showed the way in the second heat after trailing Wing Volo for the first quarter. Yankee Boy again scored in the final heat. American Belle second and Silver Ted third. The time was 2:20.2, 2:17.5 and 2:14.1. The day's second event was the 2:18 pace. Calumet Celtic beat out Mary Henle with Joe Rick driving on the home stretch. In the second race Richardson gave the bay filly her head and she took a commanding lead to win in 2:10. Mary Henle tired and Louis Scott came to second place. In the second heat the finish found Calumet Celtic again in front. Louise Scott second and Dakota Martin third, in 2:10.4. Calumet Celtic won the third heat after trailing Dakota Martin at the half. Louise Scott clinched second place and Dakota Martin third. Arabella Pharo who drove in the third heat was fourth. The time was 2:11.2, 2:10.5 and 2:10.1. The last harness race of the afternoon was a 2:16 handicap or faster trot from a standing start. Josedale Guy broke, getting away with Highland Daisy. Heberling driving, nosing her way around in front. Harry Serene drove Josedale Guy who broke just as the hat gelding was passing Heberling's bay mare on the home stretch. W. J. Volo Evans driving, gave the first and second place horses a race all the way. The time was 2:14.

Highland Daisy "Breaks" At the half in the second heat, Josedale Guy led by five sulkes and the remainder of the field bunched. Highland Daisy trails the leader with W. J. Volo winning by not too great a distance from Wildfire, driven by Frank Reynolds. The time was 2:15. In the third heat, Josedale Guy again was the class with W. J. Volo trotting fast after the half. Highland Daisy "went up". Thrice, who was leading at the half, managed to take third. The time was 2:14.1-4.

In the running races, the first event was a half mile dash with Old Pete winning in 50 seconds. Richie was in the saddle. Black H was second. Kate W third. Slott fourth and Johnson fifth. Richie rode the winner and also booted Johnson across first in the three-fourth mile dash in 1:17. Mosey on (Continued On Page Seventeen)

Third Turn Brass Shop Team Victors

The Third Turn Brass Shop softball team of the Johnson Bronze defeated the Inspectors of the Day Turn league last night at Gaston park field, 5 to 3.

The game was well played with only 11 hits being made. Russ Headland pitching for the Inspectors allowed but five hits and Bob Pasarella on the hill for the Brass Shop gave up six hits but he kept them scattered.

"Hub" Riley of the Brass Shop had three hits out of three times at bat, to be the feature hitter. Bullano and Fachney featured in hitting for the Inspectors.

The Third Turn Brass shop team is coached by "Bud" McClelland, who also does a fine job of catching. Score by innings: R H E Inspectors.....010 011 0-3 6 1 Brass Shop.....100 301 x-5 5 1 Batteries—Brass Shop: Bob Pasarella and McClelland; Inspectors: Headland and Fachney.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Russell Baxter, Frankie Moran, the Leasures and Don Jerry, New Castle fighters, will go through a heavy period of training in the Jefferson A. C. tonight and the fans who show up there at 7 p. m. will be able to glimpse the boys who will trade socks with other good, although out-of-town punchers Tuesday night in The Arena. When Moran flattened Billy Shelton at Farrell, it produced a bomb-like effect. Shelton was one of the outstanding junior lightweights of Pittsburgh. However, Frankie left no room for doubting his ability. His sock, sent to the jaw 27 seconds after the opening bell left the Pittsburgher glass-eyed for some time. Moran is scheduled to fight Ted Phillips of Pittsburgh. Baxter takes on Henry Jackson of Wierton. Les Leasure battles Bob Carmichael of Wierton and Baby Face bombs with Bomber Brown also of Wierton. Don Jerry, a newcomer will take on Andy Baker of McKees Rocks. Two champs, Niel Wargo and Henry Pratt will have real fights on their hands with Julius Walt, Wierton, and Ossie Pegase Youngstown respectively.

Because he showed up for a game out of condition, Manager Frankie Frisen yesterday fined Pitcher Joe Sullivan in Brooklyn and sent him back to Pittsburgh. And the umpires fined Frisen because he raised an umbrella during the second game yesterday. Moose Brown proved beyond a doubt last night he is Jimmy Webb's master. The referee stopped the fight in the fifth to save Webb. The writer saw Webb fight a year ago and couldn't see him as a Conn or Lesniewich.

Tennis Tourney Matches Good

Allan Morrow, New Castle, defeated Laird Daubenspeck of Ellwood City, 6-4, 6-2, in straight sets. Tommy Jones of New Castle lost a hard fought match to Fred Daubenspeck of Ellwood City, 6-4, 6-2, in straight sets.

Tonight the following matches will be played: E. Calvert vs. K. Moore, 8 p. m. D. Graham vs. B. Campbell, 9 p. m. H. Amos vs. H. Fleming, 10 p. m. A. Figuly vs. Wick Frayle, 11 p. m. ### Senior Day Plans Are Progressing

Indicate Castle Hills Course Will Be Packed On Wednesday, August 27

John E. "Jack" Waddington, general chairman of the annual Senior Day golf tourney at Castle Hills, reported today that plans for the one day event are shaping up very nicely. Indications point to 100 men 50 years of age and over playing at the beautiful Castle Hills course or next Wednesday.

The tourney starts at 12 o'clock and will not end until it is too dark to play any more golf. Each man will be required to play 18 holes to qualify for the lovely prizes that will be offered. There will be all manner of contests—putting, long driving, pitching, chipping, etc. Over 100 prizes have already been donated and more are to come. It was announced today by Mont MacCall, all men who intend to take advantage of the Senior Day are asked to get their tickets from the committee. No more than 100 tickets will be sold. A chicken dinner follows the golf tourney at 6:30 o'clock.

HILLSVILLE WINS FROM BESSEMER

Hillsville Comes From Behind; Bessemer Claims Sweeney Ineligible

Hardesty, up to yesterday, undefeated by Hillsville this year, was outpitched by Ammons and as a result Hillsville and Bessemer are tied for the leadership in the Lawrence County Baseball league race. The score was 2 to 1. It was one of the fastest games in the league this season. The game may be forfeited because Hillsville used Sweeney at shortstop.

Ammons, husky pitcher for the Youngstown Sheet & Tube, and also the property of Hillsville, who was one game behind Bessemer up to yesterday, turned the trick. He gave no free passes, fanned six and allowed only six hits. Hardesty fanned five, gave no free trips and gave seven hits.

There was not one extra-base clout in the game. Bessemer scored in the opening frame. The battle drifted on until the fourth when Hillsville sent two runners across the home plate.

According to Manager James Martin, Hillsville used Sweeney at shortstop. Martin claims League President Alec Samuels recently declared Sweeney ineligible.

Miss Hartsuff was champion quite a few years ago from 1933 to 1936. Mrs. Horner was champion in 1936 and from that time until 1940 Mrs. T. E. Nolan was champion, however her recent injury kept her from competing in the tourney.

Terry Moore Is Latest Victim Of Bean Ball

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Aug. 21.—The pennant hopes of the St. Louis Cardinals today rest in the X-ray room at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Here, Dr. Eddie O'Brien, Boston Braves physician, takes X-ray pictures of Outfielder Terry Moore, captain and sparkplug of the Cardinal aggregation, who was "beamed" by Pitcher Art Johnson of the Braves in the third inning of the opening game of their doubleheader.

Dr. O'Brien was optimistic, announcing: "Moore is perfectly rational and resting comfortably."

Indians Lose Again

In the American league the second place Chicago White Sox gained a full game on the league-leading New York Yankees and entrenched themselves a little more firmly ahead of the third place Boston Red Sox by handing the Philadelphia Athletics their third straight shut-out, 9 to 0. Johnny Rigney hurled the victory, the Chisox' ninth straight.

The Yankees meantime were losing in 10 innings to the Detroit Tigers who got a spectacular two-hit performance from Tommy Bridges, while the Red Sox were dropping two to the St. Louis Browns, 11 to 9, and 4 to 3, the latter in 10 innings.

The Cleveland Indians lost their seventh straight game, this one being another defeat by the Washington Senators and the score being 6 to 3.

Cardinal Rookie Wins First Game

Howard Pollet Up From Houston, Texas, Holds Braves To Four Hits

YANKS INDIANS BOTH DEFEATED

By LAWTON CARVER

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Out in front in the National league pennant race only a game and a half apart with one or the other virtually certain to win the championship, the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cards are following the undeniably sagacious program of trying to do it with new fingers for the rest of the stretch run—the Dodgers adding a veteran to the staff and the Cards a rookie. On the one hand we have the league-leading Dodgers making ready to utilize whatever good may be left in Larry French, and on the other the Cards entirely pleased with what they've seen of 20-year-old Howard Pollet, just called in from the Houston branch of the Chain Gang.

The Dodgers announced the purchase of the 32-year-old French from the Cubs for the waiver price and had him in uniform yesterday, only southpaw on the staff trying to hurl the Brooklyn into the world series. They have gone along this far with only right-handers, but still use French at prominent times confident that he will be able to do better for the rampaging Dodgers than he did for the Cubs. He won 14 and lost 14 last season in contrast to five wins and 14 defeats for 1941.

Rookie Hurler Wins

Pollet made his major league debut for the Cards yesterday and pitched a four-hit 3 to 2 victory over the Boston Braves to give the Cards two wins for the day and to cut the Dodgers' lead to that 1½ games. Ernie White hurled his 15th win in the opener, 2 to 0. The beating and temporary hospitalization of Outfielder Terry Moore of the Cards was a gloomy side issue in the double win.

The Dodgers swept the Pittsburgh Pirates' series by virtue of Pete Reiser's score-tying home run in the seventh and Outfielder Bob Elliott's miff of a Dodger fly ball with the sacks loaded and two out in the last half of the ninth. The score was 7 to 6, and the Pirates routed Kirby Higbe before succumbing.

The Cincinnati Reds took a much firmer hold on third place by handing the Philadelphia Phillies a pair of shutouts, 2 to 0 and 3 to 0, behind Johnny Vander Meer and Elmer Riddle. The former turned in a three-hitter and Riddle a six-hitter. The Chicago Cubs beat the New York Giants 9 to 4.

The Cleveland Indians lost their seventh straight game, this one being another defeat by the Washington Senators and the score being 6 to 3.

Brown Wins By Technical Kayo Over Jim Webb

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21.—Mose Brown, young McKeesport pug, made it quite plain today that he was to be reckoned with in the future as a light heavyweight contender.

For the second time within a month, Brown stopped nationally known Jimmy Webb of Houston, Tex., although the fight ended up in considerable confusion.

Referee Red Robinson stopped the contest and awarded the McKeesport boy a TKO in the fifth round when Webb, wobbling and uncertain after a hammering barrage of rights and lefts, stayed there for nine seconds by the timekeeper's clock.

Robinson held that he was unable to defend himself, although both Webb and his manager, Chis Dundee, protested vigorously. Brown, comparatively unknown out of the Pittsburgh district, knocked out Webb late last month in the second round of what was supposed to have been a "breather" for the Houston boy before his scheduled title match with Gus Lesnevich for the light heavyweight crown.

Senators To Fight Russian Aid Plan

Senator Clark Of Missouri One Of Antagonists Of Plan To Aid Soviets

By ROBERT A. MCGILL International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Senate opponents of President Roosevelt's foreign policy predicted yesterday there will be an organized fight in the senate to prevent Russia from receiving American war materials under the next lease-lend program.

Members of the senate non-intervention bloc said that in all probability an amendment to exclude Russia from the program will be offered as soon as the next lease-lend appropriation bill is sent to congress.

Senate administration leaders said that they anticipated such a move but expressed confidence that it will fail. They pointed out that a similar attempt to prevent war materials being sent to the Soviet failed during consideration of the original $7,000,000,000 lease-lend program.

Ready Amendment
Sen. Clark (D. Mo., a member of the congressional non-interventionists said that "undoubtedly an amendment to prevent Russia from receiving additional lease-lend materials will be offered."

Sen. Pepper (D. Fla., a staunch supporter of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, asserted flatly that the attempt to curtail shipment of war materials to Russia will fail. At the same time, Pepper said that Russia has substantial credit and that the greater volume of war materials for the Soviet can be handled through the RFC rather than the lease-lend program.

Pepper said in an interview that in all probability Lease-Lend Administrator Harry Hopkins will be delegated by President Roosevelt to attend the parity between Russia, the United States and Great Britain.

Pepper pointed out that Hopkins recently visited Russia and conferred with Premier Josef Stalin before the historic sea conference between President Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Churchill and before this nation announced that increased aid to Russia is imperative.

Fight Predicted
Sen. Clark (D. Idaho, also a member of the senate non-intervention bloc, predicted "there will be quite a fight made against the new lease-lend bill because Russia will be included." He said that if Russia should win the war against Germany it would be only a short while until "she is again trying to destroy our democracy."

Pepper said that he has been advised "that a responsible agency has devised a system to get planes to Russia in greater quantities."

A majority of the senators studying this nation's program of aid to Russia predicted that the most general route of supply will be from west coast points to Siberia regardless of Japan's threat to prevent aid to Russia by that route.

Estimates of the new lease-lend appropriation bill by Democratic and Republican senators ranged most generally from $4,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000.

Australia Asks That Japan Leave French Indo-China

(International News Service)

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 21.—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies of Australia on Wednesday demanded in effect that Japan get out of French Indo-China.

In a statement before parliament on the Far Eastern situation, Menzies said:

"Japan's acts have created tension. If that tension is to be relieved, Japan has the means of relief in her own hands."

"The United States and British empire regard the Japanese occupation of Indo-China as unjustified aggression. It is a vital concern of Anglo-American interests."

"The United States and Britain are entering a great moral partnership. They are becoming the joint champions of the life for which Australia stands."

Corp. Walls Has Finished Course

Local Artilleryman Wins Citation At Camp Shelby For Proficiency

Word has been received from Camp Shelby that Corporal Merrill J. Walls, Battery F, 190th Field Artillery, has completed the "Clerical Training Course" offered by the government. His work has been highly satisfactory and he has earned a "Certificate of Proficiency" which will be delivered to him in a few days.

In a letter to his folks, here, he says:

"This morning I was permitted to go out to the Artillery Range and watch Battery B. fire their big guns and was I ever thrilled. Boy but those things are wicked. They were firing at a distant target, just five miles away. The guns would roar, then you could hear the whistle of the shell, then just on the horizon you could see a puff of smoke where the shell hit and exploded then 14 seconds later you would hear what sounded like thunder but what was in reality the exploding of the shell when it struck the ground. It really gave me a kick and I am still excited about it. When I started this letter to you last night I said there wasn't much of anything going on right now, but after the sight I saw this morning I'd say there is plenty going on. I expected somebody to get hurt, but nobody did. I'd sure hate to be in the path of that shell once it is fired. Wish I could describe the feeling it gives a person, but I just can't put it into words."

"All of the camp is out on maneuvers except 3500 officers and men, the 190th Field Artillery being a part of the latter. I am working at headquarters, as usual. Most of our battery is on M. P. duty this week and the rest are at camp guard and stockade guard."

Says State Faces Real Gas Shortage

State Defense Head Says Shortage To Be Felt Soon In Pennsylvania

Believing that most of the citizens of Pennsylvania are confused and uninformed regarding the threatened gasoline shortage on the Atlantic seaboard, the State Council of Defense has communicated the following statement to Dr. W. F. Jackson for the information of the citizens of Lawrence County.

Dr. A. C. Marts, Executive Director of the State Council of Defense, has just completed an investigation of the much discussed gasoline shortage and is of the opinion that the shortage will soon be very real, especially in all sections of the State east of the Appalachians. This is not an imaginary danger that the citizens of Pennsylvania are facing but a very real one and one that will be upon us in a way that will be felt acutely by every gasoline user within the next few weeks. Every Pennsylvania citizen who knows the reason for this shortage will be able to meet the situation more intelligently and patriotically.

The basic reason is a very simple one. The Atlantic seaboard states normally get 90 percent of their crude oil by tankers which come from Gulf of Mexico ports. All 262 tankers previously used are needed to provide the Atlantic seaboard with 90 percent of its normal crude oil. Fifty-two of these tankers have recently been taken out of this service for the purpose of shuttling cargoes to British ships supplying gasoline to the Royal Air Force in England.

There is no shortage of crude oil and no shortage of facilities for refining crude oil into gasoline. The sole reason for the shortage now about to be felt is the diversion of these fifty-two tankers to the English service.

Youth Confesses Threat Letters

(International News Service)

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 21.—A 23-year-old farm hand on Wednesday confessed to police that he had sent a letter to Ginger Rogers, movie actress, demanding $25,000, and a similar note to the mayor of Lancaster for $5,000, threatening his life.

The police termed the farm hand, whom they identified as Charles R. Parsons, of Lancaster, R. D. 3, a former resident of Lewistown, "a mental case of a dangerous character." He was held without bail in the county jail pending court action on charges of blackmail.

RESTORE CARDS TO COUNTY DRIVERS

Lawrence county motorists have been on their good behavior lately only one revocation or suspension being reported for the week ending August 8 when 593 drivers throughout the state were penalized.

Motorists who had their driving privileges restored, included: John O. Boston, 216 Meyer avenue, Ozzie Payne, 18 East Division street, John Piper, 341 Laurel boulevard, John Richard Sherlock, 103 West Charles street, Sam Albert, 441 East Long avenue.

Frank Leaghty, of 27 Atlantic avenue, had his driving privileges suspended for failure to file proof of financial responsibility and to satisfy a judgement.

Anyway, the Russians have shown that the Nazis are invincible only when they have ten weapons to one and cripple a victim before he is awake.
